Dear Sirs:

This letter is to request that you not make changes to the Wisconsin "No Call" law. It is my understanding that it might be changed to reflect the federal no call rules. The Wisconsin law has greater limits on mass marketers and we prefer it that way. Obviously, many people like the Wisconsin rule, because about 1.4 million households made the effort to request to be included on the No Call List. If we wanted to be contacted by these people we would have not chosen to be on the list. I see no reason for allowing mass marketers (whom we have clearly stated we do not want to be contacted by) greater rights to invade our home.

For safety reasons alone, no one wants to live without a telephone. I do not understand why the mere presence of a phone gives any more rights to invade our home than there would be without it. The Wisconsin "No Call" list provides a measure of protection. Please do not take that away from us. Please do not change the Wisconsin No Call law.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Sincerely,

Sara E. Ramaker
